PROFILE

As a graduate of UCF's Full Stack Web Development course, I was exposed to various web development technologies. I was formally taught the MERN stack along with other popular web technologies, but I continue to grow my toolbox through Udemy and Pluralsight classes. I started my career as a Chef and eventually transitioned into Food Sales. It was a great experience that taught me a lot about teamwork, time management, and goal setting. However, I am eager to develop my skills and expertise as a Web Developer. With the skills I've gained, my strong work ethic, and my desire to never stop learning, I am ready to engage on my new conquest.
